Course of Instruction.

The whole Course of Instruction occupies four years, and students in the several classes are usually required to attend three exercises on each day. The degree of BATCHELOR OF ARTS is conferred upon students who complete this course.

In the distribution of elective and required studies a mean has been sought between the old rigidly prescribed course and the extreme elective system.

The object of the course is to form the mind to habits of accurate discrimination, close reasoning, and vigorous application; and, at the same time, to furnish it with the leading facts and principles in Literature, Science and the Arts.

Regulations as to Electives.

I. A student who does not return his elective card properly filled up within the time named on the card, will be assigned to studies by the Faculty at their next regular meeting, unless before that meeting such student shall present to the Faculty a properly filled card and a satisfactory excuse for not presenting it on time.

II. A student will not be permitted to change an elective after the prescribed time for presenting elective cards has expired, without application in writing to the Faculty, made not later than at their meeting on the Wednesday immediately preceding the opening of the term.

III. Whenever an elective course is offered the number of hours specified shall mean such number of actual recitations or lectures, for which the students are held responsible in recitation or term examination. For essays by students none of that number of hours shall be given up, unless it be for the reading of the same to the class. In case preparation outside of the class-room is not required for an exercise, the student will work in the class-room or laboratory two hours for each schedule hour.

Religious Instruction.

Morning prayers with reading of the Scriptures, are attended daily in the College Chapel. Public services are held in the Chapel each Sabbath morning, when all the students are required to be present, except such as have permission to attend at other places of worship. Sabbath evening there are religious services, which students and others are invited to attend. For many years a noon-day prayer meeting has been sustained by the students. A church has been organized on such principles as to embrace members from various Evangelical denominations. For the promotion of their spiritual good and highest usefulness, it is desirable that all professors of religion coming to the Institution should bring letters and connect themselves with the College Church.

A systematic course of Biblical Instruction is arranged for the several classes, a statement of which may be found in the General View of the Studies of the Year. The Young Men's Christian Association, formerly the "Society of Christian Research," holds its meetings monthly, when reports are read on the condition of Christian Missions in various parts of the world, and questions of religious interest are discussed. The Annual Address before this Society was delivered last Commencement by the Rev. HERRICK JOHNSON, D. D., LL. D., Professor of Sacred Rhetoric in the McCormick Theological Seminary, Chicago, Ill.

Payment of Bills.

It is provided by a resolution of the Board of Trustees—

1. THAT ALL STUDENTS BE REQUIRED TO PAY THEIR TERM BILLS IN ADVANCE, and that no student be admitted to the recitation room after the second week of the term, unless his bills have been paid or arranged to the satisfaction of the Treasurer.

2. That no student can have an honorable dismission from the College or certificate of his previous attendance in it, until his bills are paid or satisfactorily secured.

3. That in extreme cases, a student whose circumstances render it necessary, and who shall present satisfactory testimonials of the fact to the Executive Committee, if he is a worthy member of College, and his undergraduate course is completed in this institution, can have his bills for tuition remitted.

Pecuniary Aid.

The interest of beneficiary funds, amounting to about $3,000 per year, will be annually distributed in scholarships to needy students, preference being given to those of Christian character and high rank in undergraduate studies.

Students who are candidates for the Christian Ministry, may receive aid, if their circumstances require it, to the amount of one hundred dollars a year, by placing themselves under the care of the Presbyterian Board of Education, or under that of the American Education Society.

Absences and Excuses.

I. Two Monitors, appointed from the Junior class, at the beginning of the Senior vacation, keep the record of attendance upon morning prayers, Sabbath chapel service, and Rhetorical exercises; and hand the same to the President, Thursday morning, to be corrected by him, so that the Clerk of the Faculty may enter the unexcused absences upon the College record at the regular Faculty meeting of the following Friday.

II. Each professor keeps the record of attendance upon his recitations, and at the regular Faculty meeting reports all absences unexcused by him during the week, so that the Clerk of the Faculty may enter the same upon the College record.

III. Whenever a student has fifteen or more unexcused absences, he is reported to the Faculty by the Clerk, who also gives the student formal notice of the same. If at the end of one week from the time this notice is given, the student, provided he is in town and is not helplessly ill, fails to present to the Faculty satisfactory reasons in written form, for his absences, he receives a warning from the President, and the same is entered upon the College record. A similar notification, for ten or more additional unexcused absences is given before the second, third and fourth warnings. The second and third warnings are communicated by the Clerk of the Faculty, not only to the student, but to his parent or guardian; the fourth warning is followed by the student's separation from College, the period of such separation to be determined by vote of the Faculty, upon the report of the fourth warning.

IV. Attendance for one term with a record of less than ten unexcused absences cancels one warning incurred previously.

V. When excuses are applied for in advance, and for a period not longer than one day, they are to be obtained from the President for absence from morning prayers, Sabbath chapel services, and chapel Rhetorical exercises; and from the Professor of the Department for absence from recitations. But when absence is for more than a day, or the excuse is applied for after the absence, the excuse must be presented, in written form, to the Faculty.

VI. Absences from town for more than a day, when not excused in advance, may, without reference to formal warnings, be reported to the parent or guardian, at the discretion of the Faculty.

VII. All students who have not made special arrangements with the President to attend Sabbath service elsewhere, are required to attend the Sabbath chapel service. Students who make such arrangements are required to hand the President, at the close of each term, a written statement of their attendance upon the chosen place of worship.

VIII. Not more than two delegates can be excused to leave town to attend any society or other convention.

IX. No deduction for absence will be made in the Term bills, where the student returns to the same class.

X. Members of the Senior class can not be graduated unless they have been in attendance during two terms of the Senior year. No student is permitted to take part in the exercises of Commencement day who has not spent the Third Term of his Senior year in College, and made his preparation also in College.

XI. During vacations the College buildings are closed; and it is not thought desirable that students from abroad should remain in Clinton.

XII. No CLARK Prize Oration or Prize Essay will be received from a student who is absent more than two weeks of the Winter Term. No student who is absent more than two weeks after the announcement of subjects, can be a competitor for the PRUYN, HEAD or KIRKLAND prize.

Determination of Standing.

1. Each instructor keeps a record of all College exercises in his department, according to a scale of merit ranging from ten to zero.

2. If a student who is present and prepared to recite, is not called at any exercise, he receives a credit equal to the average of his actual performance for that term.

3. For each exercise from which a student is absent and not excused, he is marked zero.

4. For every required examination, from which a student is absent, and not excused, he receives ten zeros.

5. In estimating the value of class exercises, promptness and regularity are regarded as a merit; and all exercises, performed out of their regular time, are liable to a discount, if the circumstances seem to require it.

Second Degrees.

Graduates of three years' standing, who have continued their studies, are entitled to the degree of Master of Arts, on application to the President. The fee for the Degree and Diploma is $5.00 payable in advance.

Department of Chemistry and Mineralogy.

General Chemistry.

The Junior Class receives a course of instruction in General Chemistry, which includes recitations from the text-book, and lectures illustrated by experiments.

The general method pursued is to have a recitation from the text-book every day, the exercises being concluded with a short lecture by the Professor, in which the next day's lesson is explained, experiments being given and specimens shown, in illustration of the subject. The exercises are occasionally varied by lectures on topics of scientific interest.

Agricultural Chemistry.

A course in Scientific Agriculture is given to the Senior Class. The same method of instruction is adopted as in general Chemistry, the course consisting of recitations from the text-book, followed by short lectures from the Professor, explaining and illustrating the next day's lesson. The microscope is freely used in the study of plant structure, and facilities are given to the class to become acquainted with the facts on which this science is based. Special instruction in the use of the microscope is also given when desired.

Analytical Chemistry.

After the course in General Chemistry is completed, a thorough course in Qualitative Analysis may be taken, for which each student has his own desk in the Laboratory, with a suitable supply of apparatus, and goes over a definite course of experimental work, until he has attained facility in manipulation, as well as a knowledge of the subject which prepares him to take up Quantitative Analysis, Medical Chemistry, or some other more advanced branch connected with the general subject. Two hours' work in the Laboratory is equivalent to an hour of recitation work.

Underwood Prizes.

At the close of the Second Term a special examination is held, and the two students who exhibit the most thorough knowledge of the subject are awarded prizes of twenty and ten dollars respectively.

Graduates and Special Students.

Students who desire it may continue their chemical studies after graduation, taking up such branches as they choose. The privileges of the Laboratory are also given to special students who may elect chemistry as one of their studies, and to persons not otherwise connected with the College and who wish to devote their whole time to this branch. The needed apparatus and chemicals are furnished to the students at dealers' rates. A small charge is made for the use of apparatus which is returned in good order.

The Laboratory is furnished with every facility for conducting chemical investigation, including the analysis of ores and technical products, and such work is constantly in progress there.

Mineralogy.

The course in Mineralogy is arranged so as to give as complete a knowledge of the subject as the time will allow. Each student is provided with a desk and the needed apparatus, and ample time is given for the actual testing of all common minerals and many of the rarer ones. The student is taught to rely on his own judgment and observation, and also gains a valuable facility in manipulation. The text-book is also used, regular lessons being prepared, as it is not thought desirable to give the whole time to practical work. Here as in the Chemical Laboratory, two hours of experimental work are the equivalent of an hour of recitation. Constant use is made of the extensive College collections which have now been permanently arranged in the reconstructed Knox Hall. The collections are the accumulation resulting from the indefatigable exertion of Dr. Oren Root, so many years Professor of Mineralogy, and they stand to-day, a fit, enduring monument to his ceaseless devotion to this branch of science. The specimens are so arranged that each one can be well seen, the general collection, in scientific order, being in table cases, and the larger specimens in wall cases. A special feature is made of the minerals from this State, and a large case is filled with them, a few from the same horizon in Canada being added. Among them may be found many unique specimens, some of which are the finest known of their several kinds. By vote of the trustees this collection has been set up as a special tribute to Dr. Root and named The Oren Root Collection of New York State Minerals.

Department of Natural History.

Knox Hall of Natural History.

The KNOX HALL OF NATURAL HISTORY has been completed after plans furnished by FREDERICK H. GOUGE, of Utica, at the expense of a fund bequeathed to the College by the late Hon. JAMES KNOX, LL. D., of Knoxville, Illinois. The New Building contains two spacious exhibiting rooms and a large lecture room, with convenient store and working rooms.

The Geological and Mineralogical Cabinets and Collections in Natural History, embrace the following, viz.:

1. 2,500 Specimens of Fossils and Rocks to illustrate the Geology of New York.
2. 1,000 Specimens to illustrate the Geology of the United States.
3. 600 Fossils, mostly from the Silurian Formations of Europe.
4. 500 Specimens from the Coal Formations of the United States.
5. 250 Specimens from the New Red Sandstone Formation.
6. 2,000 Specimens of Land, Fresh Water and Marine Shells.
7. 300 Specimens in Ornithology from China.
8. Plants from China, presented by the late Dr. S. WELLS WILLIAMS.
9. One Case of Birds from the Transit of Venus Expedition.
10. 300 Specimens of Oneida County Birds.
11. 10,000 Specimens of Ores and Simple Minerals.
12. The BARLOW COLLECTION, including 15,000 Specimens in Entomology, presented by Hon. THOMAS BARLOW, Canastota.

Sartwell Herbarium.

Through the liberality of the late HAMILTON WHITE, of Syracuse, the College Collections in Natural History have been enriched by the HERBARIUM, collected by the late Dr. H. P. SARTWELL, of Penn Yan, and well known in scientific circles as a very extensive and valuable exhibition of our North American Flora. This HERBARIUM is the result of fifty years of botanical study, research and correspondence. It contains eight thousand samples of plants, skillfully cured, accurately labeled and conveniently classified in sixty-two handsome volumes. Among the more unique or useful specimens, are 451 Mosses, 226 Lichens, 342 Sea-Weeds, 600 Fungi, 575 Ferns, 314 Grasses, 200 Ericaceæ.

Barlow Collection.

Judge THOMAS BARLOW, of Canastota, has supplemented the recent gift of his large and valuable entomological collection by an almost equally valuable collection in ornithological and comparative anatomy. The college collections are now very extensive and of great importance, because so fully representing the fauna of Central New York. Among the many and interesting specimens is one array, probably unique. Side by side are three generations of the seventeen-year locust, (cicada septendecin, Linn.,) collected by Judge BARLOW, and from the same locality, on the 12th of June, 1848, the 11th of June, 1865, and the 17th of June, 1882; thus proving "that although disturbing causes may occasionally accelerate or retard the return of individuals, or even of an entire swarm, yet the lineal descendants of one particular family or swarm come forth only once in seventeen years."

Department of Intellectual Philosophy.

In this department Intellectual Philosophy is taught by means of text-books, lectures, discussions and essays. The principal text-book is Professor HAMILTON'S recently published treatise "Mental Science." The first term of the Senior year is devoted largely to this text-book, and to the work of imparting the radical principles of Mental Science. But lectures are also given, discussion is encouraged, and essays are called for. The subjects for essays are assigned some time in advance by the Professor. The Metaphysical Department of the library is especially at the service of the students, while they may be investigating particular topics.

During the second and third terms more advanced instruction will be given. The aim will be to apply the fundamental principles of Mental Philosophy to the concrete phases of mental life, and also to acquaint the class with the history of opinions and with the contrasted systems of different schools. Lectures will be given more freely than during the first term.

Professor HAMILTON advocates a very positive philosophy of his own; but, at the same time, thinks that the encouragement of free discussion, of critical thought and of independent judgment is the best method that can be adopted, not only in the interest of intellectual development, but also in that of sound doctrine.

The prizes in Metaphysics, first and second, are awarded at the close of the metaphysical course. The award is based upon the results of a written examination held towards the close of the last term, upon the merits of original essays on some philosophical topic, and upon the averages of standing in the regular work of the year.

Department of Law, History, Civil Polity and Political Economy.

The text-book is the basis of instruction in this department. Students are required to memorize definitions and leading propositions, and to reproduce, in their own language, the views, arguments and illustrations of the author. They are also questioned upon the topics of each lesson, with the double purpose of ascertaining how thoroughly they have mastered the subject, and of stimulating originality of thought.

Instruction is not, however, confined to the text-book, nor are the students allowed to accept without question the conclusions of the author studied. On the other hand, the opinions of leading writers who question or antagonize the views of the author are presented to the class, either in comments on the topics of the daily lesson, or in formal lectures, care being taken at the same time to ground the students in sound principles, and to train them to correct methods of investigation and reasoning.

Studies in history are selected and pursued with special reference to their bearing on the other branches of this department. A careful investigation of the industrial history of nations accompanies the study of political economy as a science; and lectures on the history of law and of institutions with suggestions as to proper course of reading, supplement the text-books on municipal and constitutional law.

In Political Economy, the class is divided into sections for exercises in extemporaneous debate. Each week, a subject previously allotted from the topics already studied, is discussed by one section in the place of the usual recitation. With the announcement of the subject, authorities bearing on it are given, and the students display the results of their investigation in their debates.

The instruction in municipal law is not wholly technical nor intended solely for those who are to enter the legal profession. Its scope is wide, and its aim is to acquaint the students with the leading principles of legal science, and to give them a clear and accurate conception of our legal system as a whole.

In studying civil polity, the Constitution of the United States is the central object of attention. The leading features of our political law and developement, however are carefully compared with those of other countries, especially of England, in order that a full view of the fundamental principles of constitutional law may be obtained.

Essays on subjects which are assigned from time to time to the class, indicate the progress made by the students in municipal law and civil polity, as well as the extent to which they have pursued the courses of reading commended to them.

Department of Greek.

Details of the work undertaken, from term to term, in the Department of Greek Language and Literature, will be found in the General View of Studies. The course in Greek begins with a thorough review of the Grammar, and the reading of Greek authors is attended with critical exercises in Etymology, Syntax and Prosody. Frequent reviews are called for, and are believed to be useful in strengthening the memory, in bringing each author to serve as his own interpreter, and in forming the habit of prompt, accurate and vigorous expression. There is no lack of endeavor through occasional lectures and daily illustration to point out the vital connection of the ancient Greek Language and Literature with all modern progress in expression and criticism, in science and art, in philosophy and government. The critical study of New Testament Greek is continued for two years, with exercises each Monday morning.

The award of the CURRAN and HAWLEY medals is determined by a written examination in Greek and Latin, at the close of the Second Junior term.

Department of Latin.

The English method of pronouncing Latin is used and recommended. In reading the Latin authors, accuracy in pronunciation and translation, as well as a thorough knowledge of Syntax, is insisted upon. To this end the study of the Grammar is carried on in connection with the reading. The authors read, however, are not considered as furnishing only the means for an exercise in Grammar. They are studied with reference to the thought and style, and largely in their relations to the times which they represent. Beginning with the second term of Freshman year, the study of Roman History is carried on till the close of Sophomore year. In connection with the twenty-first Book of Livy, the History of the Punic wars is taken up. The Odes of Horace are read in connection with the History of the Civil wars—the death of Cæsar and the succession of Augustus.

The Germania and Agricola are naturally attended by the study of the Imperial History from Tiberius to Nero inclusive; while in reading the Histories of Tacitus, the student is aided by broader studies of the period from the death of Nero to the rise of Vespasian.

These exercises in history consist of oral recitations, written abstracts and frequent comments by way of illustration or explanation. A regular feature of the exercise in Latin is written translation, by which it is thought that both elegance and accuracy are secured.

Lectures are given from time to time on subjects connected with the studies of each term. The examinations at the close of each term are frequently written, sometimes oral, or written and oral combined.

Department of French, German, Anglo-Saxon, Sanskrit and Philology.

I. FRENCH and GERMAN are required during Sophomore year, one term each, with an additional hour for German on Thursdays through the year. In this time a thorough acquaintance with Grammar and a reading knowledge are aimed at. The oral method is employed with the aid of Chardenal's Courses in French, and Deutsch's Colloquial Reader in German, so that from the very outset the student's ear may be trained.

As electives, French may be carried to the end of Junior year, and German to the end of the Second term of Senior year, in regular progressive courses from which the student can not well drop more than one term in each language. An acquaintance with the masterpieces of French and German Literature, a thorough, practical and philological knowledge of the language are aimed at. Along with the Elective History of junior year French and German Historical Prose is read. During senior year, German Lectures are delivered and the recitations are largely conducted in German. Each course ends in a prize examination.

These studies will include:

(a.) Readings from the Classical Literature of France and Germany. The readings vary from year to year, but Molière's Comedies, Lessing's Prose, and Goethe's Faust are always read. See the schedule of studies.

(b.) Higher Grammar, including the principal Phonetic Laws, the History and Development of forms, the history of each language, with special reference to the relations of English and German, and French and English.

(c.) Analysis and Synthesis of English, French and German sounds, with the aid of Ellis' Early English Pronunciation, Sweet's Hand-Book of Phonetics and Sound Notation, Whitney's Elements of English Pronunciation.

(d.) Outlines of the History of French and German Literature.

(e.) Prose composition once a week during Sophomore year, and later on topics of special difficulty in the grammar, chosen from Lodeman's Manual. Critical essays upon the authors studied.

II. ANGLO-SAXON; Sweet's Primer and Reader, with Lectures on Historical and Comparative Grammar.

III. SANSKRIT; Whitney's Grammar and Lanman's Reader, with Lectures on Historical and Comparative Grammar.

IV. In connection with the preceding, Lectures are given on COMPARATIVE PHILOLOGY, with special reference to Greek, Latin and English, with the aid of Curtius' Greek Etymology, Kluge's and Skeat's Etymological Dictionaries, Paul's Principles of Language History and Whitney's Life and Growth of Language.

Department of Mathematics.

The required work of the Mathematical Department extends through the first five terms of the course. There are four terms of elective study; two in the Calculus, and two in special higher work, including for this year the subjects of Determinants and Trilinear coördinates.

Written reviews are required at frequent intervals. Students absent from these reviews, for any reason, must make them up or suffer heavy reduction in grade. The exercises given for blackboard work at recitations are rarely those of the text. The object in view is not only acquisition of principles and formulas of mathematics; but even more the development of power to analyze and reason with mathematical symbols.

To incite those having talents and taste for mathematics to increased exertion and acquirement, problems of special interest are frequently assigned for voluntary solution—such work tending to increase the average grade.

The examination for the Tompkins Prize involves the work of the class for one term of twelve weeks in Analytical Geometry, and two terms of ten and fourteen weeks respectively in the Calculus.

The problems presented at this examination for solutions, while involving the methods and principles with which the class are more or less familiar, are never those which have been presented to the class before.

It is intended that this examination shall be a test of the ability of the competitors to apply in new directions, readily and accurately, the principles and methods of the course in mathematics.

REGULATIONS FOR THE THIRTY-FOURTH

Tompkins Mathematical Prize Examination.

THURSDAY, DECEMBER 8, 1887.

1. The examination will be held in the Examination Hall, beginning at nine o'clock, and closing at one.

2. The work to be done will be the solution of ten problems, founded upon the mathematics of Sophomore year, and first term Junior.

3. Each competitor must bring with him materials for writing, but no written or printed matter.

4. Copies of the successful Prize Papers will be preserved.

Department of Elocution, Rhetoric and English Literature.

I. Rhetoric is studied by the Freshman Class during the First Term from Hill's Principles of Rhetoric. The study of the text-book is supplemented by the study of Synonyms, by written exercises in criticism and the different kinds of discourse, and by illustrations of style from English Classics.

II. Class instruction with individual drill in Elocution is given during the Second Term of Freshman year. Competitors in the Prize Exhibitions receive special drill in Oratory.

III. English Literature is studied by the Sophomores during the Second Term. An outline history is obtained from Stopford Brooke's "Primer of English Literature." In addition to this work, the Sophomores make a special study of one author in each of the chief periods; and each student is expected to select two authors from a course for private reading.

IV. Electives.—Four terms of Electives are given, two in the Junior year and two in the Senior year. It is the purpose to vary this work in different years, yet to study the most directive and stimulating authors and eras.

The Course for the year 1887–8 includes the Elizabethan Drama, the Periodical Essay, the Poetry of Wordsworth and his Contemporaries, and Lectures on American Authors. In all the Electives in English Literature, students are required to supplement the work of the class-room, with courses of private reading.

Department of Astronomy.

Litchfield Observatory.

The Astronomical Professorship and the Observatory have been very liberally endowed by the late Hon. EDWIN C. LITCHFIELD, LL. D., of Brooklyn.

The Observatory consists of a central building, with wings on the east and west sides. The central building is twenty-seven feet square, and two stories high, surmounted by a revolving tower twenty feet in diameter. The great Equatorial in the tower, constructed by Spencer and Eaton has an object glass 13.5 inches in diameter, and focal length of nearly sixteen feet; it is provided with six positive and six negative eye pieces, with a ring and filar micrometer. For solar observations it has a prismatic polarizing eye-piece of original construction by the late Robert B. Tolles, of Boston, Mass. The declination circle of twenty-four inches by means of four verniers reads to four seconds of arc; the hour circle of fourteen inches, by means of two verniers, reads to two seconds of time.

The instrument is mounted upon a granite shaft, nine feet in height, resting upon a piece of solid masonry. A clock work, with Bond's isodynamic escapement and spring governor, causes the telescope to follow the daily motion of the stars, by acting upon long arms attached to the equatorial axis. The wings are each eighteen feet square; the east room is used as an office for the director. In the west room is mounted a portable transit instrument 2½ inches aperture, the gift of Hon. ANSON S. MILLER, LL. D., of Santa Cruz, Cal.

Near the Transit is an Astronomical Clock, constructed by William Bond & Son, Boston. It is regulated for mean time, and provided with the break circuit for telegraphic operations. By the side of the Clock is a Chronograph of Bond's construction. These instruments have been connected by a telegraph wire with the nearest station; and the longitude of the Observatory has thus been accurately determined by exchanging star signals with the Harvard College Observatory, at Cambridge, Mass. The Litchfield Observatory has been used as the basis of several longitudes in the State, determined under the auspices of the Regents of the University at Buffalo, Syracuse, Elmira, Ogdensburg, and of the longitude of the Detroit Observatory, at Ann Arbor, Mich., which latter forms the fundamental point for the longitude of the Lake Survey. The latest work of this kind has been to determine the longitude of the western boundary of the State of New York.

In order to observe the total eclipse of the sun, August 7, 1869, Mr. EDWIN C. LITCHFIELD presented a fine portable telescope, so that an expedition could be organized, and proceed from this Observatory to Des Moines, Iowa. This telescope, the make of Messrs. STEINHEIL SONS, of Munich, has 4 (French) inches aperture, 5 feet focal length, and is mounted parallactically on a solid iron tripod, with setting circles for right ascension and declination, and has also a tangent screw for following the daily motion of a star. It has two terrestrial and six astronomical eye-pieces, (varying in power from 40 to 360), a ring and a scale micrometer, and a sliding wedge for moderating the light. There is, moreover, fitted to the eye tube a direct vision spectroscope, with five prisms, for analyzing the light of the sun and its protuberances.

Another portable telescope, of the comet-seeker construction, was brought from Europe by the Director fourteen years ago. It is the make of Mr. HUGO SCHROEDER, of Hamburg, and its object-glass has five inches aperture. There are five eye-pieces, varying in power from 25 to 275, with a ring micrometer, and a prism for more convenient observation. The telescope is mounted on a firm wooden tripod, with circles for altitude and azimut, divided into degrees.

The zone star observations taken at the Litchfield Observatory, now number over 100,000. Twenty of the celestial charts, for which the zone Stars form the skeleton, were published four years ago, (at private expense,) and distributed gratuitously from the Litchfield Observatory to other observatories, learned societies and private individuals, in return for favors received.

The following FORTY-SEVEN ASTEROIDS were first discovered at the LITCHFIELD OBSERVATORY.

The Libraries.

The College Library includes about 20,000 volumes. The private library of the late EDWARD ROBINSON, D. D., of Union Theological Seminary, consists of 1,420 volumes, and about 100 maps, and furnishes rare facilities for the study of Biblical Exegesis and Scriptural Geography.

The Law Library of the late WILLIAM CURTIS NOYES, numbers about five thousand volumes. The books had been collected during a practice of over twenty-five years, at a cost of not less than sixty thousand dollars. "The collection consists of all the American Reports, with scarcely an exception, down to 1864; of all the English Reports of Law and Chancery, and in the Exchequer, down to the year 1860; and all the Scotch decisions, in the Judiciary Senior Courts and House of Lords; and the Irish Reports in Law and Equity."

The TOMPKINS MATHEMATICAL LIBRARY is given constantly increasing facilities for research in that department. Valuable additions have been recently made by P. V. ROGERS, Esq., of Utica, and JOHN H. HEWSON, Esq., and H. B. TOMPKINS, Esq., of New York.

THE TRUAX CLASSICAL LIBRARY, founded by Judge CHARLES H. TRUAX, of the Superior Court of New York City, is rapidly gaining in extent and fitness for meeting the wants of students in Greek and Latin. More than one hundred volumes were added to this collection during the past year.

The RHETORICAL LIBRARY, for the use of Students in English Literature, was presented by the late Rev. PETER LOCKWOOD, the late Dr. S. D. HAND, and the late Hon. CHARLES MCKINNEY, of Binghamton.

The building for the Library is two stories above the basement: 75 feet long and 50 broad. The first floor above the basement is divided into the vestibule and hall, two rooms for the Librarian, and the Library proper. The alcoves in the library room are arranged in three tiers, one above another, and with the adjacent walls and the Librarian's rooms, will furnish a place for 60,000 volumes.

Memorial Hall and Art Gallery.

By the action of the Trustees, a Standing Committee has been appointed to have special charge of the Memorial Hall and Art Gallery. Contributions are solicited of historical paintings, landscapes, plaster casts, figures in bronze and marble, engravings, ancient coins, and other works of art, along with autographs and portraits of distinguished Alumni, and of Officers and Benefactors of the College.

The Gallery is an attractive place for visitors, who find here, along with many other works of art and historical interest, HIRAM POWERS' portrait bust of Mr. EDWIN C. LITCHFIELD, DANIEL HUNTINGTON'S portraits of Dr. EDWARD ROBINSON, Hon. S. NEWTON DEXTER, Professor AVERY and Professor NORTH; portraits of President BACKUS, President NORTH, and Professor CATLIN by ALONZO PEASE; F. R. SPENCER'S portraits of WASHINGTON IRVING, Chancellor JAMES KENT, and Hon. JOSHUA A. SPENCER; CHARLES L. ELLIOTT'S portraits of President DAVIS and Trustee WILLIAM D. WALCOTT; E. F. ANDREWS' portrait of Hon. JOHN J. KNOX; A. WOLFF'S portrait of Hon. HENRY A. FOSTER; Professor NEWTON A. WELLS' portrait of Hon. E. W. LEAVENWORTH; G. A. P. HEALY'S portrait of Hon. JAMES KNOX; FRANK PEEBLES' portrait of Hon. PERRY H. SMITH; portraits of President S. W. FISHER and Treasurer O. S. WILLIAMS; F. B. CARPENTER'S portraits of WILLIAM C. NOYES and SILAS D. CHILDS.

The College Grounds.

The park in the midst of which the College buildings stand, embraces fifteen acres. The trees which adorn it were planted at different times. The Lombardy poplars were set out between the years 1805 and 1812, by Rev. SAMUEL KIRKLAND; the older elms in 1830, by OTHNIEL WILLIAMS, Esq., then Treasurer of the College; and the groups of maple and ash trees in front of the dormitories, in 1836, by President PENNEY.

In the year 1853, the grounds were enlarged and laid out anew according to the modern English method. At the same time, the College Cemetery was enlarged and improved, and its annual expenses were provided for by a permanent fund, the gift of the late SAMUEL A. MUNSON, of Utica. A Pinetum was planted by the late Rev. Dr. A. D. GRIDLEY, which contains a large variety of hardy conifers. Within a few years the campus has been invested with a new interest, by the planting of memorial trees by the successive graduating classes, and the erection of memoriol stones, sun dials, classic vases and garden seats.

It is the design of the Trustees and Faculty, to render this Park increasingly attractive. New trees and plants will be added to the present collection, as fast as they can be obtained. The Curators of the College grounds are Rev. Dr. HENRY DARLING and Prof. EDWARD NORTH, to whom communications on this subject may be addressed.

Scholarships.

Twenty-four permanent scholarships have been established, which vary in their annual income from sixty dollars to one hundred. One of these is a prize scholarship endowed by Dr. WILLIAM O. PERKINS, of Boston, for graduates of the Clinton Grammar School. Another prize scholarship, endowed by the Hon. IRA DAVENPORT, of Bath, yields $100 a year to a graduate of the Haverling Institute at Bath. Mr. SAMUEL H. JARDIN, of Philadelphia, Pa., has given $4,000 for a permanent scholarship. Other scholarship funds include the recent gift of $3,500 by Mr. THEODORE S. HUBBARD, of Fredonia; $3,000 by H. B. SILLIMAN, Esq., of Cohoes; $4,000 from the MARQUAND estate; $2,000 by Mr. JOHN B. WELLS, of Utica; $2,000 by Miss LYDIA CARTER, of Geneva; $2,000 by Mrs. Dr. SYLVESTER WILLARD, of Auburn; $2,000 by Mr. ALEXANDER FOLSOM, of Albany; $1,500 by Mr. WILLIAM BURTON, of Waterford, and $1,500 by C. C. SHEPPARD, Esq., of Penn Yan. The second award of the TRUAX Greek scholarship, founded by CHAUNCEY S. TRUAX, Esq., of New York City, will be made to that member of the Class of 1888, who maintains the highest rank in the Greek studies of the first three years of the regular undergraduate course. The income of this scholarship will be $200, payable during second term of Senior year.

By the gift of $10,000, Hon. ELIAS WARNER LEAVENWORTH, LL. D., of Syracuse, has permanently established the LEAVENWORTH Scholarship. The occupant of this Scholarship will be a student to be named by the Founder, during his life, and afterwards by the President.

Applications for Scholarships, or for any pecuniary aid, must be made to the President, in writing, and students most needy and most deserving will have the preference. The assignment of some of the Scholarships is affected by special provisions. In any case, if the student is habitually negligent of College duties, or incurs a serious college censure, he will be liable to have the aid granted summarily withdrawn.

Wm. H. Skinner Hall.

Through the generosity of WM. H. SKINNER, Esq., of Vernon Centre, repairs have been made in North College even more extensive than those for which South College is indebted to the late Hon. JOHN N. HUNGERFORD, of Corning. The west wall of North College has been entirely rebuilt, and the other walls have been thoroughly strengthened. The greatest improvement is in the interior. All the wood work and plaster were removed, and the whole finished in the Queen Anne style. The middle rooms are provided with adequate ventilation. Each suite consists of sitting room, bed room, coal room and closet. The coal rooms are all arranged so that they can be filled from the halls. There are vestibules at each entrance, and new staircases from bottom to top. There are two new recitation rooms on the first floor, and two section rooms. WM. H. SKINNER HALL, as it is hereafter to be known, has become one of the most pleasant and attractive buildings on the campus.

Society of Hamilton Alumni.

This Society is composed of Graduates from the College, and those upon whom it has conferred honorary or ad eundem degrees. One of its objects is the encouragement of Science and Letters, more especially in their connection with Hamilton College. It has the use of an alcove in the College Library, to which donations are solicited of books, pamphlets and papers, whose authors are Alumni of Hamilton. It seeks also the promotion of friendly feeling and sympathy among its living members, and the rendering of fit honor to the departed. Its annual meeting is held on the day preceding Commencement.
